Chicago Philharmonic Announces Repertoire for Night Out in the Parks Programs

Chicago, IL – (July 27, 2015) The Chicago Philharmonic has announced the repertoire for two side-by-side concerts in conjunction with the Mayor Rahm Emanuel’s Night Out in the Parks program. Students and community members are invited to play along with professional musicians from the Chicago Philharmonic in a delightful summer program that will consist of the following:

- “The Star Spangled Banner” – Francis Scott Key
- Overture to The Barber of Seville – Gioacchino Rossini
- “Blue Tango” – Leroy Anderson
- “Finlandia” – Jean Sibelius
- Romanian Folk Dances – Béla Bartók
- Carmen Suite – Georges Bizet
- “Armed Forces Salute” – arr. Bob Lowden
- “The Stars and Stripes Forever” – John Philip Sousa

Music-playing students and community members of all ages and abilities are invited to bring their instruments and collaborate with Chicago Philharmonic musicians in rehearsing and performing two concerts of these works in Chicago parks. All others are invited to enjoy the concerts as audience members.

The performances will be led by conductor Emanuele Andrizzi, whose resume includes engagements with the Lyric Opera and Los Angeles Opera, among others. Mr. Andrizzi is the conductor and head of the orchestra program at the Chicago College of Performing Arts at Roosevelt University.

With these side-by-side programs, the Chicago Philharmonic aims to connect with new audiences, bringing classical music opportunities to underserved areas of the city.

The first program will take place on Saturday, August 1st at Ping Tom Memorial Park (300 W 19th St) in Chicago’s Chinatown neighborhood. The second will be held on Saturday, August 29th at the Columbus Park Refectory (5701 W Jackson Blvd) in the Austin neighborhood. Both programs will include a side-by-side rehearsal at 4:30 P.M. for all those performing with the orchestra and a public side-by-side concert at 7:00 P.M.

Participation and attendance are free and open to the public. Spots for community musicians will be available on a first-come, first-served basis, and registration is encouraged at chicagophilharmonic.org/night-out-in-the-parks. Those who register will receive advance access to sheet music for the concerts as well as one complimentary ticket to a performance in the Chicago Philharmonic's 2015-16 season.

This initiative marks the first time that the Chicago Philharmonic has made side-by-side experiences open to the general public. In the past, selected students have performed side-by-side with the orchestra as part of its symphonic series in Evanston. Earlier this year, the orchestra launched the Chicago Philharmonic Mentorship Program, through which Chicago Philharmonic musicians participated in side-by-side rehearsals and concerts and gave masterclasses at Old Orchard Junior High School in Skokie.

The Chicago Philharmonic was selected by the Chicago Park District to receive funding and join over 80 other organizations in making up the summer-long Night Out in the Parks series. The orchestra hopes to grow the side-by-side concerts into a regular component of its yearly performance and outreach activities.

Night Out in the Parks programs with the Chicago Philharmonic are made possible in part by generous support from program sponsor U.S. Bank.

About the Chicago Philharmonic
