To Our Patrons, Musicians, Stakeholders, and Friends:

We are pleased to submit this Annual Report of The Chicago Philharmonic Society’s musical and financial activities during the fiscal year ended June 30, 2018.

Our twenty-eighth season was extraordinarily productive. Through the leadership of Maestro Scott Speck, our Artistic Director, and James Berkenstock, our Artistic Advisor, and in collaboration with the Artistic and Personnel Committees of our Board, we presented “Glorious Earth,” a season inspired by the glory of the world around us. We continued our multi-year residency at Chicago’s Harris Theater as well as performing at Pick-Staiger Hall in Evanston and North Shore Center for the Performing Arts in Skokie. We presented the world premiere of Sonorous Earth with Third Coast Percussion, a new work Chicago Philharmonic commissioned, composed by Augusta Read Thomas and we were honored to serve in our sixth season as the official orchestra of the Joffrey Ballet, among an ever increasing range of collaborative performances.

The Chicago Philharmonic Chamber Players continued their highly-regarded series at City Winery in downtown Chicago on Sundays in autumn and spring. We received invitations to provide music for a wide variety of notable events, which further demonstrated the quality and appeal of our unique capabilities and brand. Finally, our outreach programs in schools in the Chicagoland area involved an ever-growing number of new students and communities, and our Side by Side with the Chicago Philharmonic program, undertaken in collaboration with the Chicago Park District for its Nights Out in the Parks series, once again demonstrated its extraordinary popularity.

Overall, we produced 85 symphonic performances, requiring 53 rehearsals, and 9 chamber performances, requiring 27 rehearsals. We engaged nearly 300 musicians and performed over 140 different works. In all, our symphonic activities (including rehearsals and/or performances) spanned 97 days, and chamber activities (including rehearsals and/or performances) encompassed 35 days. All of this activity was very positive for our musicians and further increased the recognition of our musical excellence among audiences and critics in the greater Chicago metropolitan area. Our annual report contains a full chronicle of the season’s achievements.

Financially, we are proud to report achievement of another surplus in Fiscal 2018, which is our seventh in a row. Our staff continues to grow in scale and capability and is more enthusiastic than ever about our steady and sound expansion. Our approach to corporate governance is increasingly gaining attention as unique and effective because performing musicians and community leaders together participate as board and committee members, which enables us to maximize our potential for collaboration and creativity.

On behalf of our board, staff, and musicians, we want to thank our patrons, contributors, and volunteers for their tremendous support throughout the past year.

Sincerely,

Tom Manning
Chairman

Donna Milanovich

Annual Report

The Chicago Philharmonic’s 2017-18 season, Glorious Earth, was devoted “...to the glories of being alive on this planet, with an array of masterpieces that show us what it means to be human.” (Scott Speck) The world-class talents of the Chicago Philharmonic musicians came together to celebrate the world around us as expressed through moving and beautiful compositions, in symphonic concerts, chamber performances, outreach programs, and contractual work. The season was sponsored in part by Von Maur, the Illinois Arts Council Agency and the City of Chicago Department of Cultural Affairs and Special Events.

The season opened with Body and Soul on Sunday, October 15 at Pick-Staiger Hall in Evanston, with the orchestra performing “finely realized works” (Chicago Classical Review) of Carl Orff’s Carmina Burana, Igor Stravinsky’s Firebird Suite, and Christopher Theofanidis’ Rainbow Body. Joining the Chicago Philharmonic were soloists Hugh Russell, Martha Guth, and Justin Berkowitz, along with the Apollo Chorus of Chicago and the Evanston Children’s Choir. Body and Soul was made possible in part by a grant from the Consulate General of the Federal Republic of Germany in Chicago. Joining the concert as NEXT! guests in the foyer were music students from George B. Carpenter Elementary School who presented an Orff Schulwerk demonstration and instrument display. Through Chicago Philharmonic’s Families to the Phil program, supported by Albany Bank and Trust, nearly 175 students and family members were able to attend Body and Soul at no cost.

The season continued with Scott Speck conducting Sonorous Earth on November 12 at the Harris Theater for Music and Dance in downtown Chicago featuring the world premiere of award-winning composer and University of Chicago Professor Augusta Read Thomas’ Sonorous Earth, a concerto for percussion quartet and orchestra commissioned by the Chicago Philharmonic. Featuring Grammy award-winning quartet Third Coast Percussion, Sonorous Earth utilized over 300 bells and pieces of metal. The premiere, called “a joyous affirmation of commonality across world cultures” by the Chicago Tribune, prompted a standing ovation from the audience. Third Coast Review listed Sonorous Earth as their favorite classical music concert of 2017. Accompanying the world premiere was Joan Tower’s fifth Fantare for the Uncommon Woman and Amadeus Mozart’s Symphony No. 41. Tying into the concert’s percussive theme was a NEXT! concert in the foyer by percussion students from The Chicago High School for the Arts. Sonorous Earth was generously supported by the National Endowment for the Arts, New Music USA, the Elizabeth F. Cheney Foundation, and the Aaron Copland Fund for Music.

On Sunday, March 4 the Chicago Philharmonic presented the family-friendly concert Bows and Beasts, featuring both international and local virtuoso soloists at Pick-Staiger Hall in Evanston. Headlining the concert was Camille Saint-Saëns’ The Carnival of the Animals with dazzling married piano duo Per Tengstrand and Shan-shan Sun, interspersed with Ogden Nash’s playful poems from “Verses for Camille Saint-Saëns’ The Carnival of the Animals.” Scott Speck acted as both narrator and conductor. Also performed was Pyotr Tchaikovsky’s Serenade for Strings, Antonio Vivaldi’s Concerto for Four Violins in B Minor featuring Chicago Philharmonic violinists David Perry, Robert Hanford, Jennifer Cappelli, and Kathleen Brauer, and Walter Leigh’s Concertino for Harpsichord and Strings, featuring local harpsichord virtuoso Jory Vinikour. Joining the concert as the NEXT! ensemble was the Youth Choral Theater of Chicago. Through a generous contribution from Albany Bank and Trust, the Chicago Philharmonic was able to underwrite 75 tickets for underserved students and families through the Families to the Phil program. One participant called the program and concert “an incredible opportunity for my kids to see professional and talented musicians in action.”

The Chicago Philharmonic presented Beyond the Black Sea to a packed house at the North Shore Center for the Performing Arts in Skokie on April 8 2018. Conductor Scott Speck led the orchestra in performing Russian and Russian-inspired works: Philip Glass’s The Secret Agent and Pyotr Tchaikovsky’s Symphony No. 5. To complete the concert, Chandos recording artist and internationally renowned pianist Xiayin Wang joined the Chicago Philharmonic with “sensitivity and Style” (Splash Magazines) in performing Sergei Rachmaninoff’s Piano Concerto No. 2. Also joining the orchestra for rehearsals and the Beyond the Black Sea performance were three exceptional pre-professional string students from the Midwest Young Artists Conservatory. These students received this mentorship and performance opportunity as part of the organization's Spotlight outreach program. During the concert, the organization announced its award as Illinois Professional Orchestra of the Year 2017 by the Illinois Council of Orchestras, with Chicago Classical Review noting the award as “well deserved.” Artistic Director and Principal Conductor Scott Speck, Personnel Committee Chair and musician member Karin Ursin, and Personnel and Operations Director Terrell Pierce accepted the award on behalf of the Chicago Philharmonic.

By popular demand after a world premiere in 2017 in which Chicago Sun-Times named it among the best dance performances of the year, the Chicago Philharmonic and Visceral Dance Chicago brought back The Dream on April 29 2018 at the North Shore Center for the Performing Arts. Inspired by Fyodor Dostoyevsky’s “The Dream of a Ridiculous Man”, the performance was choreographed by award-winning choreographer Nick Pupillo with music selections curated to tell the story by the Chicago Philharmonic. With Scott Speck conducting pieces by Jonny Greenwood, Dmitri Shostakovich, Thom Yorke and more, the “elegant, complex, and compelling modern ballet” (Splash Magazine) was well-received by audience members and critics alike. Before the performance, newly graduated professional harpist Mirela Shendrya charmed audiences in the foyer as a part of the NEXT! program.

Finishing the concert season was Hollywood Heroes, performed on May 27 at the Harris Theater for Music and Dance in downtown Chicago. Principal Conductor Scott Speck led the orchestra in crowd-pleasing excerpts of the original scores to films including Michael Giacchino’s The Incredibles, John Williams’ Star Wars and Harry Potter, Rupert Gregson-Williams’ Wonder Woman, Elmer Bernstein’s The Magnificent Seven, Klaus Badelt’s Pirates of the Caribbean, and more. Each piece elicited enthusiastic applause from the audience, many of whom came dressed as their favorite superhero or movie star. Special guests from the 501st Midwest Garrison also joined patrons in the foyer before the concert dressed as characters from Star Wars to the delight of audience members of all ages.

Adding to the Hollywood theme was the Chicago Philharmonic’s first step and repeat banner and red carpet, which concert-goers enthusiastically took pictures and selfies in front of. Support for Hollywood Heroes was provided by Concert Sponsor U.S. Bank. The Pauls Foundation generously supported the organization's Families to the Phil program for the concert, which enabled the Chicago Philharmonic to underwrite over 200 tickets for underserved families in the Chicago area.

The Chicago Philharmonic Chamber Players at City Winery Chicago

Our fourth year of Sunday brunch concerts at City Winery Chicago, located in Chicago’s West Loop neighborhood, began with Día de los Muertos on October 29. Woodwind ensemble Quintet Attacca (Jennifer Clippet, flute; Erica Anderson, oboe; Barbara Drapcho, clarinet; Collin Anderson, bassoon; Jeremiah Frederick, horn) celebrated the rich music of Latin America by performing works by Arturo Marquez, Miguel des Aguila, Astor Piazzolla, and Paquito D’Rivera.

The series continued with Crime Classics on November 19 as the Chi Phil Chamber Players and Chicago Senior Radio Players united to present two episodes from the 1950s radio docudrama “Crime Classics”. With music by Academy-Award winning composer Bernard Herrmann, the audience laughed and gasped along as the performers told stories of Jesse James and more.

The fall series concluded on December 10 with Fairytale Noel, featuring the harp trio Jennifer Clippet, flute; Claudia Lasareff-Mironoff, viola; and Alison Attar, harp. Audience members took a moment out of the busy holiday season to enjoy enchanting music by Claude Debussy, Arnold Bax, and Frédéric Chopin, as well as a charming holiday-themed medley.

The spring series opened on January 21 as the Chi Phil Chamber Players “traveled the world” in Berlin to Buenos Aires. Virtuoso family members and piano trio Alan Snow, Andrew Snow, and Beatriz Helguera-Snow impressed with renditions of pieces by Felix Mendelssohn, Astor Piazzolla, and D’Rivera.

On February 11 the Chi Phil Chamber Players celebrated Valentine’s Day weekend with a light-hearted take on the holiday, Mix-Tape Romance. Audience members enjoyed delicious brunch and wine as string quartet players Renée-Paule Gauthier, Karl Davies, Benton Wedge, and Margaret Daly, and narrator Frank Babbitt performed a “mix-tape” of music including works by Schumann, Haydn, Radiohead, Gershwin, and more.

The Chi Phil Chamber Players finished the season on March 18 with Kings, Queens and Rebels, presenting well-known tunes with a classical twist. The string quartet (Dawn Gingrich, Heather Boehm, Benton Wedge, and Matthew Agnew) charmed the audience with arrangements of works by Queen, John Williams, Seal, and included an original piece by Chicago Philharmonic member Benton Wedge.

Jory Vinikour, Harpsichord Virtuoso, and the Chicago Philharmonic Chamber Players

On May 5 2018, the Chi Phil Chamber Players joined spectacular harpsichordist Jory Vinikour to perform for the first time at KAM Isaiah Israel, a historic place of worship built in 1923 in a Byzantine architectural style in Chicago’s Kenwood/Hyde Park neighborhood. Headlining the program was a rare performance of Ned Rorem’s Concertino da Camera. Also performed were chamber and solo harpsichord pieces by Handel, Ferris, Juan Orrego Salas, and Bach. This concert was a part of a Cedille Records project, with an album of Jory Vinikour to be released in May 2019.

Chicago Philharmonic Exchange and Festival: Poland 2018

Celebrating Chicago’s rich cultural landscape, the Chicago Philharmonic began an exchange of music, musicians, and culture in April 2018 as Artistic Director Scott Speck and ten Chicago Philharmonic musicians traveled to Poland. Traveling to the Polish cities Kraków and Lusławice were musicians David Perry, Kathleen Brauer, Sally Chisholm, Barbara Haffner, Robert Everson, William Denton, Mike Brozick, Neil Kimel, Jeremy Moeller, and Graeme Mutchler. Accompanying the musicians were Executive Director Donna Milanovich and Personnel Director Terrell Pierce. The project was made possible in part by an International Connections Fund grant from the John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation. The musicians worked with students at the Academy of Music in Kraków by leading master classes and side-by-side rehearsals, culminating in a concert featuring both the Chicago Philharmonic musicians and students from the Academy. The orchestra performed Jennifer Higdon’s blue cathedral, George Walker's Lyric for Strings, and Leonard Bernstein's Symphonic Dances from West Side Story to a standing room only hall. The concert resulted in a reprise of Bernstein’s Mambo of such vitality that the Academy faculty said they had not ever experienced in a concert before. Special thanks to Dr. Karolina Jarosz and Dr. Jan Pilch from the Academy of Music in Kraków for their partnership and planning to make this collaboration possible. Also in Kraków, the United States Consulate General invited Chicago Philharmonic musicians to a lovely reception and dinner in their honor at the residence of Consul General Walter Braunohler. Lusławice, a music and culture venue created by famous composer Krzysztof Penderecki in 2013. There, they performed a chamber concert showcasing American and Chopin works for string quartet, solo percussion, and brass quintet. Featured composers included John Cheetham, Jan Bach, Stacy Garrop, William Bolcom, Eric Ewazen, Guy G. Gauthreaux II, and Leonard Bernstein.

The second part of the exchange and festival will take place in November 2018 with a five-day festival celebrating Poland’s 100-year National Independence Day.

Joffrey Ballet

The Chicago Philharmonic’s sixth season as the official orchestra of the Joffrey Ballet opened on October 19 2017 with the classic Romantic ballet Giselle. Featuring staging by Lola de Ávila and music by Adolphe Adam, the Chicago Sun-Times called the lush 19th century score performed by the Chicago Philharmonic “pure enchantment.”

On December 1 2017, the Joffrey Ballet opened its second year of Christopher Wheeldon’s The Nutcracker, with original choreography and production that debuted to popular and critical appeal in 2016. The Chicago Philharmonic played Tchaikovsky’s iconic score in the pitand onstage for 33 performances. As the Chicago Sun-Times said, “Toast the Chicago Philharmonic and conductor Scott Speck, whose rendering of the Tchaikovsky score is ideal.”

The Chicago Philharmonic brought its “stellar talents” (Chicago Tonight, WTTW) to Joffrey Ballet’s first program of 2018, Modern Masters, which featured a Joffrey premiere of George Balanchine’s The Four Temperaments, performed to music by Paul Hindemith; Body of Your Dreams by choreographer Myles Thatcher; a world premiere by choreographer Nicolas Blanc, with music by Mason Bates; and Glass Pieces by Jerome Robbins with music by Philip Glass.

Joffrey’s season finale, Midsummer Night’s Dream, was a vibrant imagining of the longest day of the year by Swedish choreographer Alexander Ekman, featuring the music of Mikael Karlsson played onstage by a Chicago Philharmonic string quartet comprised of Robert Hanford, Rika Seko, Rose Armbrust Griffin, and Paula Kosower, with Swedish pop star Anna von Hausswolff. The experimental show was received well critically, with Picture this Post calling the music “whimsical, classical, and contemporary at the same time.”

Contractual Engagements

The Chicago Philharmonic experienced a year of unprecedented success with contractual events, collaborating with several new organizations while maintaining relationships with longstanding partners. Continuing partners included Aurora University’s outdoor Music by the Lake series at Lake Geneva in Wisconsin in a performance featuring pianist Joseph Joubert and vocalists Alicia Hall Moran and Destan Owens, Sundays at 4 Holiday
Strings and Song also at Aurora University, Salute to Vienna at Symphony Center, Ravinia Festival with a performance of The Who’s “Tommy” with Roger Daltrey, and The Legend of Zelda at Auditorium Theatre.

Additionally, the orchestra worked with the Indo-American Heritage Museum to support their gala at the Field Museum, performing a concerto with sarod virtuoso Ustaad Amjad Ali Kkan. The orchestra also accompanied showbiz veteran Johnny Mathis and his “Christmas Concert” at the Rosemont Theater. Musicians of the Chicago Philharmonic also played a pop-up performance in Union Station’s Great Hall as part of BBC America’s national launch of the second season of Blue Planet.

The Chicago Philharmonic also received praise for the orchestra’s high-level engagements with internationally acclaimed ballet companies, performing with the American Ballet Theatre at Harris Theater and Ballet Nacional de Cuba in the company’s return to Chicago after 15 years. As Splash Magazine said, “What could be better than watching dance on the stage of the Auditorium Theatre, hearing the fantastic music of the Chicago Philharmonic…”

Outreach Programs

Chi Phil AMP

2017-2018 marked the fourth year of Chi Phil AMP (Academy of Music Performance) at Old Orchard Junior High School, a culturally diverse school in Skokie with over 50% of students meeting the federal definition for living in poverty. In addition to the organization’s work at Old Orchard, the Chicago Philharmonic implemented Chi Phil AMP at two diverse schools in Chicago’s near-west side for the second year: UIC College Prep and Chicago Bulls College Prep. The two Noble charter schools have student bodies that are 86% and 89% low income, respectively. Benito Juarez Community Academy, a Chicago public school in Pilsen with 96% of students classified as low income, also joined the program for the first year.

Overall, Chicago Philharmonic musicians provided in-school mentoring to over 300 band and orchestra students through master classes, side-by-side rehearsals, and side-by-side concerts. These meaningful, repeated interactions with professional musicians effectively cultivated students’ music skills as well as advanced overall development and success in school.

Support for Chi Phil AMP mentorship program in 2017-2018 was provided in part by the Charles and M.R. Shapiro Foundation, The Farny R. Wurlitzer Foundation Fund, Illinois Arts Council Agency, and Mathew Lucante Violins, LLC, as well as contributions from each of the participating schools. Foundation support for Chi Phil AMP at Benito Juarez Community Academy was provided by Judy Guitelman, Dan Epstein, and the Dan J. Epstein Family Foundation.

Side by Side with the Chicago Philharmonic

In partnership with the Chicago Park District and Mayor Rahm Emanuel’s Night Out in the Parks initiative, the Chicago Philharmonic presented its fourth year of side-by-side symphonic concerts in Chicago parks. In December 2017, the organization presented its first winter side-by-side concert inside the Garfield Park Conservatory, funded in part by the Employees Community Fund of Boeing, U.S. Bank, Judy Guitelman and Dan Epstein, and the Dan J. Epstein Family Foundation, and the Music Performance Trust Fund. The event was by far the most popular side-by-side concert ever, with over 700 audience members attending.

In 2018, the series includes an increased six concerts in six different parks in Chicago’s west and south side neighborhoods. In Summer 2018, the program continued in four concerts in four parks: Humboldt Park Boathouse on June 21 (in partnership with Make Music Chicago), Ping Tom Memorial Park on July 7, Columbus Park Refectory on August 5, and Hamilton Park on August 18. Fall 2018 will bring two remaining events for the season: the organization’s first side-by-side concert at Piotrowski Park on October 6 and a holiday-themed concert at South Shore Cultural Center on December 16.

Music students and community musicians of all ages brought their instruments and collaborated with the Chicago Philharmonic in rehearsing and performing a free, public concert. In 2017, over 400 community musicians signed up to participate, and over 1500 attended the concerts as audience members.

Side by Side was made possible by the following partners: The Chicago Park District, The Chicago Community Trust, U.S. Bank, and the Music Performance Trust Fund.
Families to the Phil

For over seven seasons, the Chicago Philharmonic has provided young students from diverse socioeconomic backgrounds the opportunity to attend symphonic subscription concerts with their family members free of charge. In the orchestra's 2017-2018 season, the Chicago Philharmonic underwrote over 800 tickets to underserved families, thanks in part to support from the Albany Bank and Trust Company, N.A., and the Pauls Foundation.

NEXT!
The Chicago Philharmonic established NEXT! in 2011 to give both aspiring young musicians and lesser-known, professional-level musicians the chance to be heard by large, diverse audiences. These talents are showcased in the foyer before Chicago Philharmonic symphonic concerts.

Spotlight

The Spotlight program provides professional symphonic opportunities to exceptional high school students. Chicago Philharmonic musicians work with these students as coaches and mentors during the rehearsal process in preparation for the professional performance of a major classical work. At the 2017-2018 concert Beyond the Black Sea, the following young musicians from the Midwest Young Artists Conservatory were part of the orchestra for the performance of Pyotr Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 5 in E Minor: Michelle Manson, Ezra Escobar, and JJ Butler.

Community of Musicians and Musician Governance

The Chicago Philharmonic has long embraced the unique practice of organizational governance led by musicians. Musicians participate at all levels of governance, including serving on the Board of Directors, participating in the organization's committees, and participating in the Musicians Advisory Council. The Musicians Advisory Council is comprised of 35 musicians and meets twice a year, serving as a sounding board for musicians to share their thoughts and feedback with the administration and Board of Directors. The Artistic Programming and Policies Committee selects artists and programs, and works with the Personnel Committee to maintain the quality of all performing ensembles. The Patron Services Committee handles development of strategies to promote audience attendance and to create and maintain relationships with patrons. The Development and Endowment Committee oversees long-term strategies for securing grants and other institutional sources of funding. The Financial Services Committee maintains the financial operations of the organization, and the Chamber Music Programming and Policies Committee selects artists and programs for the Chicago Philharmonic's part-time music librarian.

Board of Directors

The Chicago Philharmonic was served by 22 members of the Board of Directors, including 11 performing musician members. We are in the process of seeking 25 board members and plan to keep our musician majority. During Fiscal 2018, Thomas Manning served as the Chairman of the Board, with Chicago Philharmonic Board members Robert Everson and Duffie Adelson serving as Vice Chairs. In 2017-2018, the organization welcomed two new Board members: Kevin Bradley, Senior Manager, Global Diversity & Inclusion for The Boeing Company; and William Denton, Chicago Philharmonic musician member and Lyric Opera Principal Trumpet. The Board held four meetings during the year and numerous committee meetings throughout the season.

Management and Staff

Donna Milanovich completed her 22nd year as a member of the Society, and her eighth year as Executive Director. Donna is responsible for the organization's general operations, including concert planning, performances, and coordination; patron and donor development; and Board committee support. During FY18, Donna oversaw a staff of two part-time and six full-time employees, with support from the organization's office interns.

Terrell Pierce, Personnel and Operations Director, manages concert logistics and artistic personnel. Cassandra Kirkpatrick, Marketing and Communications Director, manages all aspects of marketing, advertising, and public relations. Lydia Penningroth, Marketing and Development Associate, provides support in marketing, development, and various special projects. Danielle Ray was the Chicago Philharmonic's part-time music librarian.

Joining the administrative team in FY18 were four new staff members: Kate Lin, Development Director; Nathaniel Davis, Outreach and Concert Coordinator; Spencer Parts, Grants and Communications Associate; and Lydia Ogolceva, Accountant.

Chicago Philharmonic also thanks concert casual staff including Megan Volk, Esperanza Salgado, Mirela Shendrya, Philip Parker, John Clevenger, Alyssa Hensley and Ellen Buttitta.

Professional Services

Special thanks to Larry Sophian, Marva Flanagan, and Anne Beason of Ostrow, Reisen, Berk & Abrams, Limited (ORBA) for their excellent work and timely audit of the organization's accounts and the pro bono network of Seyfarth and Shaw.

Volunteers

Many thanks to the volunteers who donate their valuable time, effort, and skills to the Chicago Philharmonic, especially Shelly Kimel, Rina Magarici and Matt Schiff, Guillermo Bublik and Patricia Fernandez, and Paul and Mary Ann Judy. From administrative assistance, to hosting fundraising events, this season wouldn't have been possible without you!
Financial Results

The condensed Financial Statements of The Chicago Philharmonic Society for the Fiscal Year Ended June 30 2018 are shown below. As indicated, our activities resulted in a surplus, continuing the long-term trend of positive increases in net assets.

The reputation of the Chicago Philharmonic as a high level musical arts organization continues to grow as the premier contract orchestra in the Chicago area. We were proud to add BBC America to our list of collaborators, which includes the Joffrey Ballet, Harris Theater for Music and Dance, Salute to Vienna, Auditorium Theatre, and Ravinia Festival.

The Society also continues to attract the attention of increasingly high profile funders, including U.S. Bank, the Employees Community Fund of The Boeing Company, and the John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation International Connections Fund.

Contributed income including endowment gifts increased 55% in Fiscal 2018 over Fiscal 2017, the strongest increase in the last six fiscal years. Endowment contributions for Fiscal 2018 included two $100,000 grants, $50,000 of which was utilized in the Growth Fund. Excluding these contributions, contributed income increased almost 13% over Fiscal 2017.

Admissions revenue for Fiscal 2018 increased 22% over Fiscal 2017. The Society’s ability to increase admissions revenue and attract new patrons – through a mix of traditional classical works, lesser-known gems, and an approachable, welcoming concert atmosphere at our concerts – is a testament to our mission: to excite, engage, and transform diverse audiences with the beauty and power of great music.

Our Families to the Philharmonic program was funded directly by sponsors for the second year, thereby increasing the program’s availability to more underserved participants. Outreach programming continued to expand in scope and depth. Our residency at Harris Theater provided fresh opportunities to court new patrons in downtown Chicago. The orchestra also continued to perform at North Shore Center for the Performing Arts in Skokie and Pick-Staiger Concert Hall in Evanston, further developing our presence in the North Shore’s cultural scene. The Chi Phil Chamber Players drew audiences to City Winery in Chicago’s West Loop neighborhood, and we performed for the first time at KAM Isaiah Israel in Hyde Park.

Program services expense totaled just over $2 million, constituting 87% of the Society’s total expenses. Management and general expense totaled $229,056, and fundraising expense was $73,588, representing 10% and 3% of total expense, respectively.

The Statement of Activities shows an overall surplus made up of an operational deficit offset by endowment contributions. The operating deficit reflected planned expenditures considered vital to the society’s future. They included: (1) aligning the compensation of the staff closer with the market; (2) increasing the number and specific expertise of the staff to focus on strategic objectives; (3) increasing the number and scope of events, thus increasing the outreach of the organization; and (4) various equipment purchases and increased expense in the administration and programming areas.

With the realization of an overall surplus of $42,272, the Society’s net asset increased to $196,350 as of June 30 2018. The financial statements of the Society for Fiscal 2018 have been audited by Ostrow, Reisin, Berk & Abrams, Ltd. CPAs. These documents are posted on the Society’s website and available on request.

A unique, musician-governed musical society.

Our mission: Through a community of musicians and community members, the Society wishes to excite, engage, and transform diverse audiences with the beauty and power of great music.

The Chicago Philharmonic Society is a collaboration of over 200 of the highest-level classical musicians performing in the Chicago metropolitan area. Governed under a groundbreaking structure of musician leadership, the Society presents concerts at venues throughout the Chicago area that cover the full spectrum of classical music, from Bach to Bernstein and beyond. The Society’s orchestra, known simply as the Chicago Philharmonic, has been called “one of the country’s finest symphonic orchestras” (Chicago Tribune), and its unique chamber music ensembles, which perform as the Chicago Philharmonic Chamber Players, draw from its vast pool of versatile musicians.

The Society’s outreach programs connect Chicago-area youth to classical music and provide performance opportunities for members of the community. Founded nearly 30 years ago, the Chicago Philharmonic currently serves as the official orchestra of the Joffrey Ballet, continues its 25-year association with the Ravinia Festival, is a resident company of Harris Theater Chicago, and performs at Auditorium Theatre, Symphony Center and all the great concert halls of the Chicago and North Shore area. In 2018, the Illinois Council of Orchestras awarded the Chicago Philharmonic “2017 Orchestra of the Year”.
